Dear Folks,

Feb. 5, 1944

I guess I might as well start this letter by asking you to share it. I'm pretty sure this will be all I'll get written. I sure was glad to get mail again last night. I got letters from you dated Dec. 18, Jan 5 and 15. It made me happy, of course, to get the late news but I got the biggest kick out of the oldest letter. Daddy had written most of it and it was so chatty that it made me almost feel as if I'd spent a little time at home. I sure don't mean any reflections on anyone else's writing but that's just the way it effected me. I suppose what did it most was his telling about mother ironing on Saturday night. How are things at school coming? By the time this reaches you it will be almost Richard's birthday. I sure send all my best wishes. I know it will be a crisis in his life and I hope, pray and know the Lord will take care of things. Keep trusting. Love, Donald
