

Sunday Evening
January 6, 1946

Dear Folks,

I realize that it's sort of unnecessary to write to you tonight because this will get there on Tuesday or Wednesday and about all the news I have is that I won't get there on Tuesday or Wednesday. I'm in one of the companies for discharges and don't really hear any official news any more but I suppose there must be several men coming in and slowing things down a little.

The lists are all out for those that start processing tomorrow and thus will get out Tuesday. I'm not on any of them but surely I'll be on one of them sometime within the next couple of days. I suppose I'll get home on one of the examination days but don't let me upset things too much till that's over. If I was deciding, I wouldn't pick that day to get home but I don't think I'll delay coming on that account.

I received your box containing my hat and the candy yesterday. Thanks a whole lot. The hat's fine. I'm really not in the thirtieth company now but I'll still go down there to get my mail while I'm here. They don't give out mail in these companies that aren't for permanent party men anyway.

Well I'm not doing a very good job of writing tonight and I really haven't any more news so I'm going to sign off. Hope everything is OK with you. I'm still planning on seeing you before this week is over.

as ever,
Donald

P.S. I'm sure doing a lot of resting now. To be sure I went to church this morning.

Monday Night

Hello again,

Well I didn't get this sent out today so now I might beat it home. at least it won't get there much ahead of me. I feel kind of silly even sending it at all now. But if everything goes off OK I can give you some pretty accurate information. I am on a roster that it will finish its processing about 4:30 Wed. evening. Even at that, of course, it's still not fool proof.

But if nothing else happens, I'll leave Philadelphia on the 9:19 PM on Wednesday and get to Indianapolis at 11:58 Thursday. So the middle of the afternoon should see me home.

I may or may not get home before this but anyway I'll be seeing you.

D.V.I.
